

Message from Mrs Millsop:

We are at the end of a busy term and this Friday marks the half way point of the year. Throughout the school, staff and children have been drawing topics and learning together in a broad range of experiences. Year 6 have written cohesive reports demonstrating their knowledge about highway men after analysing 'The Highwayman'. Year 1 children put on a confident and enthusiastic performance of 'Jack and the Beanstalk' for their parents and siblings.

Earlier this week, Year 4 children enjoyed a trip to the Corinium Museum to deepen their understanding about life in Roman times whilst in Year 2 children dressed up to celebrate their learning about polar regions.

Parents have been welcomed into school in Year 3 to celebrate their learning and Nursery parents have been able to stay for a visit with their children and see how their children are learning through their play.

Values: COURAGE

Mrs McLaughlin led Collective Worship this week, during which we were led to think about the importance of our Mental Health. This is because 6th February was Time to Talk day. We thought about the importance of talking to one another as a positive action to combatting loneliness. We thought about the courage that this might take but if we know it is going to make a difference to someone, then this is something we should have the courage to do.

Wishing you all a restful break ! Mrs Millsop and the team
